Schuffert Pontiac sues Hancock supervisors

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT
Schuffert Pontiac-Buick-G.M.C. Inc. filed suit in Hancock County Chancery Court Wednesday against the Board of Supervisors, claiming that 'defendants are discriminating against plaintiff and all parties not in the business of selling Ford vehicles.'

Perniclaro Sr. and James Travira individually and in their official capacity for injunctive relief, declaratory relief and compensatory damages in the amount of $26,999.75 each.

According to the complaint, Schuffert Pontiac submitted a bid for the vehicles, but Schuffert could only furnish half-ton trucks with 395 cubic inch engines, the largest engine manufactured by General Motors for half-ton trucks.

The lawsuit stems from an October 1983 notice to bidders advertising for one or more 1984 half-ton pickup trucks with 350 cubic inch engines for use in Districts Two and Four.

The complaint alleges that this truck has performance capabilities similar to the trucks as advertised.

The complaint further alleges that Schuffert's low bid of $8,999.75 was not accepted and the bid was awarded to Charlie Henderson Ford for $9,074.75.

Waveland Mayor refutes Echo story

Mayor John Longo of Waveland has issued the following statement:

"I have never made any threat that the City of Waveland would annex Clermont Harbor. In fact, there has never been any discussion, either individually or collectively, by the governing body of the City of Waveland to annex Clermont Harbor either now or in the future.

"If the people of Clermont Harbor want to hire a lawyer that's their business. But if they are hiring one to oppose annexation by the City of Waveland they are wasting their money because as I stated before we don't have nor have we ever had any plans to annex any part of Clermont Harbor.

I am amazed that such an incorrect story could get started and appalled that it was spread by sensational newspaper headlines."

Editor's Note: The reporter working on deadline Wednesday morning tried to contact Mayor John Longo, and was told that he would not be in until late that afternoon.

Jourdan residents fear land irrigation will be scrapped

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Although the Waveland Regional Wastewater District engineer says negotiations to obtain possible sites for a proposed spray irrigation sewage treatment system are progressing, a representative of Jourdan River home owners fears the plan will be scrapped at the 11th hour if land is not available.

The only other cost-effective method of disposing of effluent from Bay St. Louis and Waveland would be the original plan to extend city outfall lines to the Jourdan, Ray Eaton of Lewis-Eaton Partnership of Jackson admitted at a Wednesday night wastewater district board of directors meeting.

Eaton's admission was in response to questioning by Mike Reynolds, a Jourdan resident, who also queried Eaton regarding whom he had contacted about the possible sites.

The Jourdan residents have voiced strong opposition to the effluent line extensions to the river because they fear the waterway will be polluted.

Eaton said six sites are being considered for the land treatment system. He revealed the location of three areas under consideration—one north of the Anley area and two in the National Space Technology Laboratories Acoustic Buffer Zone.

One proposed site in the buffer zone is in the Catahoula and Dead Tiger Creeks area and the other is west of Stennis International Airport immediately north of I-10.

However, the engineer would not reveal the location of the three other sites which he said are in a preliminary negotiation stage.

Eaton has estimated that 700 to 900 acres of woodlands are needed for the land treatment system, but the exact number of acres necessary would be determined based on soil percolation rates which would be determined with soil borings.

About 10 people attended the meeting in addition to Supervisors Roger Dale Ladner, Bert Courge and Sam Perniclaro, John McCarty, State Bureau of Pollution Control Hancock engineer; Chairman and Mayor John Longo; County Supervisor Board President A.A. (Dolph) Kellar, both of the wastewater board; and Lucien Gez, wastewater district attorney.

Mayor Larry Bennett, a wastewater board member, and District Five Supervisor James Travira did not attend the meeting.

Eaton said he has been contacting landowners with large parcels of land suitable for the irrigation system in Hancock within a 12-mile radius of the cities.

The engineer reported local farmers and local Paper Co. officials were not interested in leasing land for 20 years as is needed for the system and felt because of that the other timber companies would not be interested. He added that he planned to contact owners of 200 and 300-acre parcels.

Anthony suggested that Eaton inform the companies that they can obtain some tax credits when their property is used for certain land management projects.

Citizen fund opened to buy sheriff's car

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Lee Klein of Clermont Harbor said Friday he is heading up a group of citizens trying to raise some $10,000 to purchase an additional patrol vehicle for the Hancock County sheriff's office.

Klein stated, "As you know, the World's Fair in New Orleans will bring a large amount of additional traffic in our county."

"The reduction of gas and oil production in our county has caused a severe cut in severance taxes. This reduced the amount of monies available to our board of supervisors for county operations," Klein added.

On Saturday Ronald Peterson, Hancock County sheriff, reported a new patrol vehicle was purchased by the supervisors for his department last November.

"The supervisors had advertised for two vehicles, which came in at Henderson Ford, who was the successful bidder," Peterson added.

Mike Necaise, Hancock County chancery clerk, reported on Saturday, "Severance taxes collected from gas

Bay man charged in double shooting

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT
Cecil Francis Turner, also known as Frank Turner, 51, of Bay St. Louis is being held at an undisclosed location under $150,000 bond following a double shooting Wednesday in Waveland.

The shooting occurred about 5:30 p.m. in the parking lot of Asher's Grocery Store near US-90.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson said Turner has been charged with murdering Lewis E. Meyers Sr., 49, and with aggravated assault in the shooting of Meyers' brother Kenneth, 40.

Lewis Meyers shot once in the lower abdomen, was pronounced dead at Hancock General Hospital.

Kenneth Meyers, shot in the left arm, underwent treatment at the hospital.

Both men are from the Springwood Park community in Lakeshore, just west of Waveland.

James A. Lee, 55, who gave his address as Bay St. Louis, has been charged as a material witness in the case and is being held under $20,000 bond.

The scene that although details were sketchy, authorities believed the incident stemmed from a 'domestic-type' quarrel.

Later he explained that officials believe the shooting occurred after Turner signed an affidavit earlier Wednesday against Lewis Meyers' son, Lewis Meyers Jr.

Meyers Jr. was arrested Wednesday morning and charged with breaking and entering and threatening to do bodily harm. He was released from Hancock County Jail Thursday under $5,000 bond.

According to Peterson, Turner was using the telephone outside Asher's when the Meyers brothers approached him. The shootings occurred shortly thereafter.

The shots were fired from a .30 calibre carbine, Peterson said, adding that no weapons were found on the Meyers brothers.

Lewis Meyers was buried Saturday in Turtle Creek Cemetery following funeral services at Edmond Fahy Funeral Home.

He was a native of Muncy, Pa. and a truck driver.

Pass contractor's death an apparent suicide

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT
R.D. (Bob) Rippetoe, a building contractor, was pronounced dead on arrival at Hancock General Hospital Saturday morning as a result of apparently self-inflicted gunshot wounds, according to Hancock County Sheriff's Department Dispatcher Mary Biehl.

Officials in Harrison County, contacted late yesterday afternoon, said they could not comment on the matter until an official press notice was released.

Biehl said Saturday afternoon she understands Rippetoe died sometime between 8 and 10 a.m. as he was being transported to the hospital by Mobile Medical Ambulance Service.

Earlier Saturday, Biehl said, Rippetoe called Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Alvin Ladner and told him he was going to kill himself.

Ladner notified Harrison County Sheriff's Department officials who found Rippetoe with wounds from a shotgun blast in his chest at his home at the corner of North and Cedar Streets in Pass Christian, Biehl said.

Thursday Rippetoe was charged with four counts of grand larceny in Pass Christian.

River County.

He also faced charges in the Harrison County Hobbs racketeering case and had posted a $35,000 bond in connection with those charges.

Pearl River County Sheriff James Smith said Friday that Rippetoe was arrested Thursday afternoon and taken to Poplarville where he was charged and then released on a $5,000 property bond.

Smith said Justice Court Judge Richard Cowart issued a warrant for Rippetoe's arrest after four landowners signed an affidavit against him alleging that Rippetoe had workers cutting timber for him on private property near Pearl River Estates in Poycune.

At the time of his arrest Rippetoe was in Hancock County jail. Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson said Rippetoe turned himself in Wednesday night for public drunkenness.

Rippetoe had been released from Hancock County jail Jan. 27 after serving 75 percent of a six-month sentence for defrauding the county school district and after paying $4,040 restitution to the school district and $4,040 of a $14,520 fine.

County board asks escrow for disputed school funds

By NANCY PATTON EHRBRIGHT

Hancock County School District trustees filed a resolution Friday with the City of Bay St. Louis asking that school taxes collected for portions of land which have been annexed by the City of Waveland be put in escrow until a determination is made as to their proper distribution.

The land in question is located in Section 33, Township Eight South, Range 14 West and, according to Hancock County School Superintendent Terrell Randolph, includes a portion of Shoreline Park and Waveland and possibly the Buccaneer State Park area.

The resolution notes that Hancock County was reorganized into two separate school districts in December, 1955.

At that time Waveland was given an opportunity to join either the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District or the Hancock County School District.

The Waveland Board of Aldermen chose to join the Bay St. Louis district. Since that time, the resolution states, Waveland has extended its corporate limits into areas that were part of the county district.

The City of Bay St. Louis has been collecting taxes on these lands and delivering said monies to the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District without consent of the county school district, the resolution alleges.

Last Saturday Randolph, at a recess meeting of the school board, read a letter from Robert S. Reeves, special assistant to the state attorney general, replying to questions Randolph posed about the annexation.

In his letter to the attorney general Randolph said: "My interpretation of the law is that a school district cannot alter their boundary lines unless it has been agreed upon by the boards of the respective school districts and shall have final approval from the Educational Finance Commission."

"The boundary lines for the two districts was adopted on June 11, 1958." "In your opinion, was there any time after this date that Waveland could annex Hancock County School District property without the prior approval of the respective boards and the Educational Finance Commission?"

In his reply Reeves said that expansion of the city limits of Waveland would not automatically expand the Bay St. Louis school district.

"There is no lawful means for the addition of territory to the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District without the approval and consent of the Board of Education of Hancock County..." Reeves said.

"Presently I would estimate between $12,000 and $15,000 in tax losses to the county schools," Randolph said, "and possibly up to $25,000 or $30,000 next year because of added construction in the area."

Hancock County School Board Attorney Joseph Gex said Friday that because the Bay St. Louis City Council approves the municipal school district budget, the city council will have to respond to the resolution.

And because Gex is also Bay St. Louis city attorney, he said he will give his legal opinion on the matter but will ask council members if they would like to have another attorney also render an opinion on the subject.

Management exec to address Morning Edition

John C. Bonner, comprehensive services coordinator with the Gulf Coast Business Services Corporation, will be the guest speaker at the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Morning Edition coffee.

The meeting is scheduled for Thursday at 7:30 a.m. at the Raintree Cafe, corner of Beach Boulevard and Court Street in Bay St. Louis.

Bonner, a native of Baltimore, Md., is responsible for planning, grants and contracts in the administration of a three-county consortium under a program of the Gulf Coast Business Services Corporation.

He previously served as Private Industry Council director for the Gulf Coast Employment and Training Administration before assuming his present position.

He organized and served twice as president of the Southeastern Regional Association of Manpower Planners, now called the Southeastern Employment and Training Administration.

Bonner has served on various committees, such as the advisory committee for the Center for Manpower Studies at the University of Mississippi and Memphis State University, and the executive committee of the State Manpower Services Council.

This month's Morning Edition will be sponsored by Dantaguan Realty of Bay St. Louis.

WWII bomb squadrons to return to Europe

The 397th Bomb Group with its 596th, 597th, 598th, 599th Bomb Squadrons is sponsoring "A Return To The E.T.O." June 4 to June 18.

This pilgrimage to Europe includes a visit to the Normandy beaches on June 6, the forty-year commemoration of the D-Day invasion.

There will also be tours in England and France where the 397th was stationed, sites of the ground battles, areas of general historic nature, and sightseeing places.

An invitation is also being extended to other "Air Corps" veterans, ground troops, and private individuals, family and friends. A travel brochure and itinerary will be mailed upon request.

Advance planning is also underway for the seventh reunion of the 397th Bomb Group, scheduled for the fall of 1985, in southern California.

Former members of this

WWII 9th Air Force B-26 Marauder group, and other interested persons, are asked to contact the 397th Bomb Group Association, Nevin F. Price, Secretary, P. O. Box 1786, Rockville, Maryland 20850. Phone (301) 460-4488.

The last B-26 group to go overseas during World War II, the 397th soon became known as the "Bridge Busters" for combat missions which began on April 20, 1944.

At the peak of its combat history the 397th struck the enemy's communications during the Battle of the Bulge (Dec. 1944-Jan. 1945) and received a Distinguished Unit Citation for a mission on Dec. 23, 1944 when the group withstood heavy flak and fighter attack to sever a railway bridge at Eller, Germany, a vital link in the enemy's supply line across the Moselle River.

This mission cost the group many planes and men.

One man bound over in Comiskey killing

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT
Motions by Robert Corkern's attorney first to dismiss charges of capital murder and then to reduce them in connection with the deaths of two men in Waveland Jan. 27 were denied Friday, and Justice Court Judge Bruce Necaise ordered Corkern bound over to the April grand jury.

Corkern, 21, of Shoreline Park and Allen Nicolaou, 18, a resident of Waveland for about three months, are accused of the shooting deaths of Gerald Comiskey, 54, of Waveland and Keith McMillian, 20, of New Orleans at Comiskey's home at 1320 Dubuc Lane.

Corkern was originally held as a material witness but was charged several days later when Nicolaou implicated him in his statement to Texas authorities after he was apprehended in Midland, Tex. about 15 hours after Comiskey and McMillian were shot, officials testified Friday.

Prosecutor John Genin argued at the preliminary hearing Friday that although Corkern had not done the actual shooting, he had prior knowledge of the act and was an accessory before the fact.

Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Alvin Ladner and Waveland Police Department Investigator Robert (Poochie) Tartavouille both testified Friday that Corkern first said he had no prior knowledge of the shootings, but several days later admitted he had discussed the matter on four occasions during the two weeks prior to the incident.

Yvonne Chapman Sills, representing Corkern, argued that changes in Corkern's statements to Hancock County Sheriff's Department officials were "not significant."

Although Nicolaou had discussed the shooting with Corkern before the incident, Sills said, Corkern "thought he was kidding."

McMillian, shot three times, died at Comiskey's home. Comiskey, shot four times, died later at Hancock General Hospital during surgery.

Following the shooting, Nicolaou and Corkern allegedly left the scene in Com-iskey's 1983 Camaro and proceeded north on Hwy. 603 to the Olde Rooster Cafe in Kiln, where Nicolaou allegedly robbed the cafe of $250 and took two girls, aged 14 and 19, as hostages.

Corkern and the girls got out of the car near Necaise Crossing, walked to a nearby trailer and called authorities.

Nicolaou, who has not yet had a preliminary hearing, is also charged with armed robbery and kidnapping.

The two girls who were taken hostage were called to the stand Friday by Sills.

Both girls testified that during the time they were with Nicolaou and Corkern, Nicolaou admitted he had shot Comiskey but said nothing to indicate that Corkern had been involved in the killings.

Tartavouille testified that Comiskey's wallet, a check written on Comiskey's account and Comiskey's gun were all recovered from Comiskey's car when Nicolaou was apprehended in Texas.

Corkern is being held without bond at Hancock County Jail. Nicolaou is being held without bond in Harrison County.

BUT I'VE GOT CHARM—Here at the Hancock County Animal Shelter on Gulfside Drive in Waveland they call me Freddie the Freeloader. It's true I haven't got a dime to my name, but I'm rich in spirit with a lot of charm and energy. How do you like my chair sitting act? Is it great or is it fantastic? They nabbed me running the streets of Bay St. Louis, like any other decent medium size male dog, but I promise to be a great pet if I could just get a good home with a fenced yard. To adopt me, before I get the ole needle, please phone the Bay-Waveland Humane Society volunteer at 467-0230 Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. or Thursday from noon until 3 p.m. and make that call fast or I'm a gonner. ## Wastewater ..... CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1A

Reynolds reported he had contacted several top regional officials of International Paper and Crown Zellerbach Co. who were not aware of the Waveland district sewage disposal proposal.

Eaton said he had not talked to the same officials because he contacted local company officials as a business courtesy.

Reynolds stated, "I'm concerned about us being caught by surprise... my concern is that at the last minute the land will not be available and we'll be back to the original site (Jourdan River)."

However, Reynolds said Charles Fry of H. Moss Point said he had been contacted by Eaton and told him the company was not interested from an environmental standpoint.

But Fry requested a letter from Eaton regarding the proposal which the company official had not yet received.

Eaton said he would quickly send the letter to Fry.

Fry said key company officials all denied having made any type of commitment to the project.

Earlier in the meeting Eaton noted the cost to the wastewater district for either the spray irrigation system or Jourdan extensions is about the same based on the amount of federal and state funds available for the projects.

He noted the irrigation system would cost about $6.5 million and the extensions would total some $2.2 million.

But the 85 percent federal funding for the innovative spray method as compared to 55 percent monies for the extensions results in the wastewater district paying less than $200,000 more for the land disposal system.

Eaton said an underground 20-inch transmission line from the cities to the spray site would be constructed to serve those two municipalities for 20 years.

The engineer added that Bay and Waveland daily sewage effluent output is 1.5 million gallons.

He reported a parallel line to serve urbanized county areas would cost Hancock $460,000.

Michael Anthony, another Jourdan resident, suggested that a larger line be built in anticipation of or to enhance county population growth.

But Eaton and McCarty reported the state would not fund such a line, especially for potential users now utilizing septic tanks, unless county areas have sewerage and are ready to tie into the district line.

Longo added that the two cities should not be expected to bear the financial burden to provide sewage effluent disposal for county areas.

Anthony suggested another meeting before the next scheduled public hearing with all concerned local, state and federal officials, but Longo said such a meeting would not be productive.

McCarty advised that the wastewater board members make sure all local officials favor the irrigation plan so no unexpected problems arise at the last minute to scrap their efforts.

He asked the board to put off the public hearing for 45 days to allow time for local officials to seriously consider the proposal.

But Eaton warned that each week of delay could present problems in securing funding sources for the project.

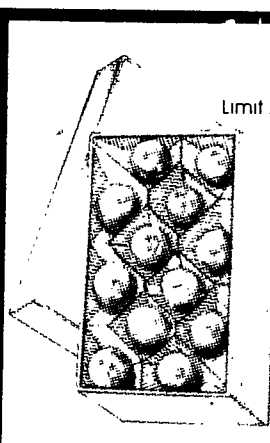

The board set a hearing to review the district's 201 Study, proposing a long-range plan for Hancock waste treatment, tentatively for 7 p.m. Monday, March 26 at Waveland American Legion Post No. 77 on Coleman Avenue pending the availability of the hall.

The Morning Edition sponsored by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce will be held on Thursday at the Raintree Cafe, Beach Boulevard at Court Street.

John C. Bonner, comprehensive services coordinator with the Gulf Coast Business Services Corporation, is the scheduled speaker.

We have been told Bonner will have a very important message, especially for the business person.

The event gets under way at 7:30 a.m., so you late sleepers will have to set your clocks a little earlier. I know some folks are saying they have already completed half a day's work by 7:30 a.m.

The Morning Edition sponsor for February is Dantagnan Realty Company.

The regular season on basketball is fast drawing to a close, especially with the District A finals being decided last night at Bay High's Tiger Dome.

Soccer is the big sporting activity many young boys and girls are now involved in, and seems to be growing each year.

The Bay Area Youth Soccer League has games scheduled each weekend.

Games are played at St. Augustine's Field in Bay St. Louis and the Waveland Elementary School in Waveland.

Soccer offers fast action for the spectator and attendance is beginning to improve for the games.

We know soccer is rather new to our area, but it is one of the fastest growing sports in Hancock County today.

TELEPHONE ACCESS CHARGES LATEST HEADACHE FOR SMALL BUSINESS

Most small-business people reading this column will be surprised to learn that they aren't really small-business people after all—at least according to the Federal Communications Commission.

Last month, in a decision which will cost realtors, florists, service station operators and millions of other business owners hundreds of dollars a year, the FCC postponed telephone access charges for residential users and for "small businesses."

But the FCC definition of small business is a business with only one telephone line.

Since last fall, there have been increasing signs that the breakup of the communications monopoly might not have the desired effect. Instead of lowering phone costs, it is apparent most small-business people will pay more for their phone service.

Access charges are at the heart of the problem. These are the charges AT&T assesses—with the approval of the FCC—to compensate for proposed rate reductions for AT&T long distance service.

In a survey of its members in November, NFIB learned that 73 percent of the small-business owners responding oppose imposition of access charges. In that same survey, 62 percent rejected the idea of measured service for local calls.

Members of Congress are worried about the impact of the new charges on their constituents—at least their residential constituents.

The House passed legislation before Christmas banning access charges for residential users and one-line small businesses.

More than 30 Senators urged the FCC to delay imposition of access charges on those same user groups until the matter could be studied further.

But the FCC response places the burden squarely on business. Small businesses with more than one phone line will begin paying $6 per month per line beginning in April.

That's just the federal portion of the new charges. State public utility commissions are expected to authorize access charges of their own, in most cases another $6.

A florist with three lines could pay $288 a year in access charges alone. In addition, many local phone companies have already requested and received permission to hike basic phone rates.

Small-business owners as a group favor a less regulated economy. But they want the burden for services to be shared equally by all users.

Many of the business people with whom I have talked recently wonder why the cost of telephone service needs to be so complicated.

They suspect access charges are nothing more than a surcharge and that they should be called just that.

If the phone companies cannot provide service at existing rates—whether long distance or local service—let them say so and request adequate rates for the services provided.

But let those rates be charged to all users. And until a new, equitable rate system is devised, the FCC should extend its postponement of access charges to all users.

(John Sloan is president of the National Federation of Independent Business, representing more than half a million small-business men and women).

ECHO EDITORIAL STAFF HONORED—Several leaders of the Bay-Waveland Humane Society recently presented personalized plaques to the editorial staff of 'The Sea Coast Echo' at the offices of the local newspaper in Bay St. Louis. ## Senator

Thad Cochran

VOLUNTEER TUTORS

Senator Thad Cochran is sponsoring a bill establishing a senior citizens' tutoring program for educationally disadvantaged children.

Senator Cochran said, "The aim of our proposal is to utilize the vast reservoir of skill and talent existing among senior citizens and parents in school communities."

Under Senator Cochran's proposal, senior citizen volunteers would serve as liaisons between the schools and low-income families, and these volunteers would work directly with the children of such families in the elementary and secondary schools.

He noted that various pilot projects involving senior citizens and parents have shown to be effective, but that the "need is great for more of an effort nationwide."

Experts estimate that over 11 million children of low-income families need help in basic skills, and that current programs for educating disadvantaged children reach less than half this number.

The proposal for a senior citizens' volunteer network would provide for tutorial services in the classroom, in small groups or on a one-on-one basis, with the remaining time spent serving in a liaison capacity working with the families of the children involved.

Such liaison activity would involve assisting parents in providing a home environment conducive to study and homework, learning basic skills, and monitoring progress and problems of the children involved.

The Senator said the legislation calls for a "modest investment of $6 million a year" for a five-year program, to be administered under the Title I section of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

The funds would provide training for volunteers, teachers, and others involved in the program.

IN CONGRESS

By Cong. Trent Lott

Two major issues continue to dominate the debate in Congress, budget deficits and Lebanon.

I have been active in the debate on both of these areas, working on a special committee to help find budget savings and being briefed on the changing situation in the Middle East.

Save $100 billion
The four members of the so-called "downpayment" committee met for the first time last week. We are trying in a bi-partisan way to find $100 billion in savings for fiscal year 1985, an effort which is certainly worthwhile.

After all, our country has seen a good, strong economic recovery. Inflation has fallen, interest rates have been more stable, unemployment has been down the past several months and individuals have been able to keep more of their own money.

We want that to continue, but one of the factors that may have an influence on whether it continues or not is the size of the federal deficit. The other factor is monetary policy and what Federal Reserve Chairman Paul Volcker and his agency do to the money supply.

Congress needs to be careful in dealing with the deficit so that we don't go too far in moving toward raising taxes which very probably would slow down the recovery.

I think we can accomplish a downpayment on the deficit, however, similar to the call made by President Reagan in his "State of the Union" address.

This approach involves a multi-year effort, reducing the deficit steadily and over a period of time. I think we also must begin looking at ways to apply savings made in the spending process directly to deficit reduction. It is an approach worth pursuing.

Lebanon
The situation in Lebanon over the past few days has not been encouraging. The Lebanese cabinet resigned, vicious fighting broke out anew on the street of Beirut and President Reagan announced a re-deployment of American Marines.

I think the President's move to re-deploy our troops to ships off the Lebanese coast was a correct one. I want to caution, however, that the re-deployment announced by the President does not mean a stampeded withdrawal.

We have to protect our Marines as they move back to the ships in a coordinated, orderly fashion. It must also be done in concert with our allies in the multi-national peacekeeping force, particularly the French and Italians.

There are tons of heavy equipment involved, too, and the move is not one which can simply be made overnight. At the same time, the administration must recognize Congressional sentiment that the situation be closely monitored in the coming days.

I hope that there will be some diplomatic and military improvement soon.

"Man is the most extraordinary computer of all."
—John F. Kennedy

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

If it concerns you, it concerns us

County blessed with residents of uncommon ability, but they rarely get appointed to boards and commissions

February 16, 1984
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

It is with growing concern that we read of one questionable appointment after another to city and county boards and commissions.

This county has been blessed by the presence of many residents of uncommon education, talent, and ability, yet these people are rarely nominated to fill appointed positions, or they serve only one term and then are peremptorily dismissed.

It is as if those in government studiously avoid appointing the people who are most qualified and are most likely to make independent contributions for the betterment of the community as a whole.

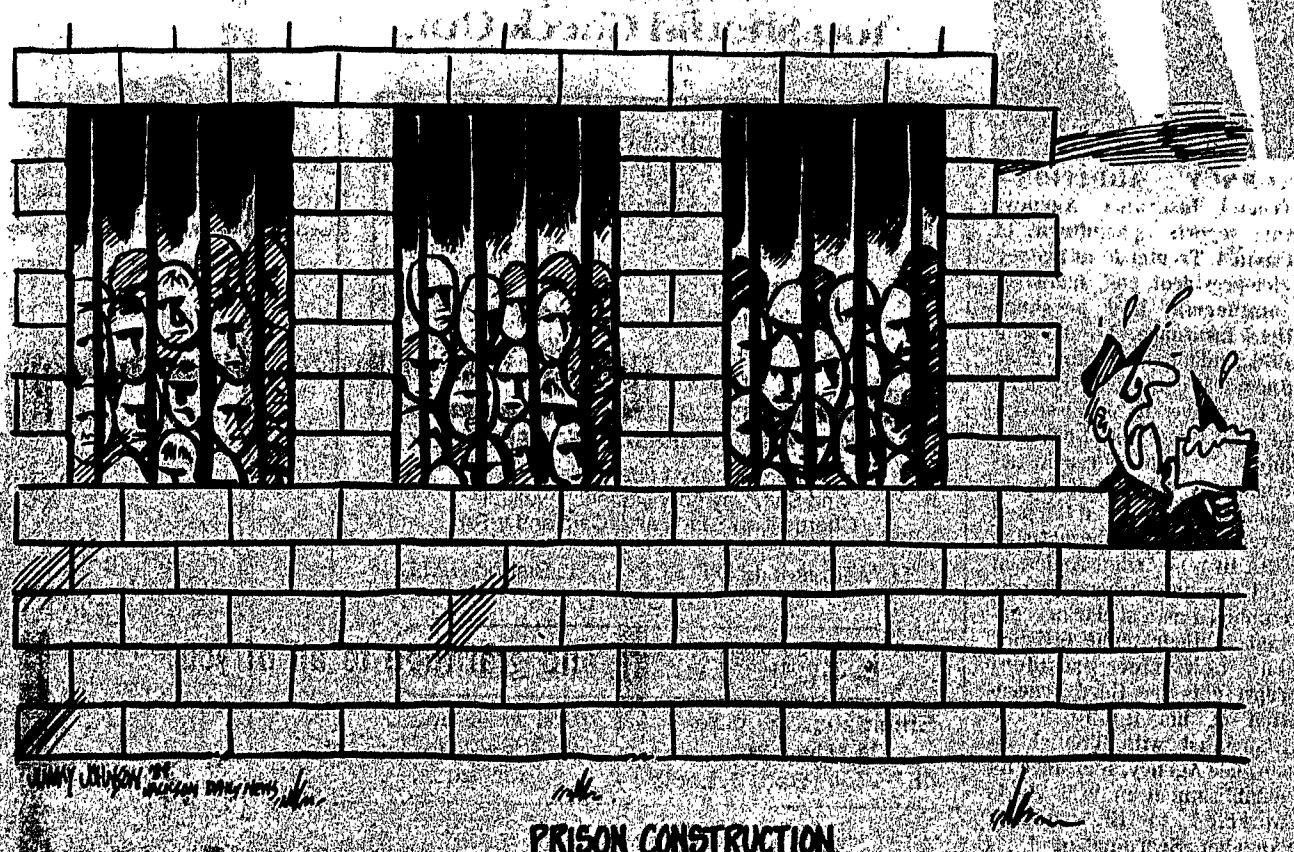

As a rule, boards and commissions are formed to make available to political bodies a broad spectrum of talent and to operate as an information pool for innovative ideas and creative solutions.

Such boards should not be loaded with political appointments.

It is discouraging to note that many of our elected leaders seem to resent any ideas not compatible with their own.

NSTL slates fifth annual Black History Month event

Bay County's assistant principal of the NSTL School, will be the guest speaker Wednesday at the National School Principals' Association's annual Black History Month program.

Most of the dramatic presentations will be scheduled in the schedule of the annual national conference. NSTL Administrator James Beasly stated, "NSTL is well known for many of the fine contributions of Black Americans, past and present; and we at NSTL look forward with great expectation to the future and the positive contributions Blacks will make to our future."

Activities will be held in NSTL's Vester Center auditorium beginning at 7 p.m. and the public is invited to participate.

This is the fifth consecutive year that NSTL's Black History observance has been sponsored by the Association for Cultural Awareness.

The NSTL program will follow the national theme, "Black Americans and the Struggle for Excellence in Education."

Master of ceremonies will be AGCM Amos Fields, command master chief, Commander Naval Oceanography Command.

The invocation will be given by the Rev. William Young, pastor of the First Missionary Baptist Church in Pass Christian.

Following welcoming remarks, Fields will introduce the guest speaker, James, who was selected Gulfport

High assistant principal in 1977, received his bachelor's and master of education from Alabama State University. A native of Alabama, he is a member of Alpha Phi Alpha, the NAACP, the Mississippi Association of School Administrators and National Association of Secondary School Principals.

Also during the morning program, the NSTL Concert Choir will perform musical selections and Pan Am's Anthony Quinn will present Dr. Martin Luther King's "I Have a Dream" oration.

After lunch, musical selections by Pan Am's Frank Hobson and pianist Eddie Lyons of the Naval Oceanographic Office are scheduled.

Two groups from Jackson State University who have participated in past NSTL Black History programs will then perform.

Members of the Dunbar Dramatic Guild and the JSU Expression will present an excerpt from the Micki Grant musical, "Don't Bother Me, I Can't Cope." Described as a dynamic mixture of rock, calypso and ballad music, the production utilizes singers, dancers, musicians and actors.

The dramatic guild is directed by Tommie Stewart and the JSU Expression director is Dr. Jimmie James.

Closing remarks and presentation of certificates will be made by Ed Weatherspoon of the Naval Oceanographic Office, president of the Cultural Awareness Association.

Hancock County schools need more classrooms

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT

Following a special school board meeting last Saturday to discuss classroom facility needs for Hancock County School District and a visit to several school sites, Superintendent Terrell Randolph told the trustees Monday that he will ask Fred Wagner to come up with an estimate of space needs and construction costs.

Like other school districts throughout the state, Hancock County schools have just two years to prepare for the kindergarten classes that are mandated by Mississippi statutes to begin operations in 1986.

"Based on current first grade enrollments," Randolph said, "we would have to have ten kindergarten classes."

"Right now we have ten first grades."

Randolph said the problem is intensified by current overcrowded conditions at all schools in the district.

Gulfview Elementary School students are presently located at three sites.

Some students are attending classes in a house across the street from the main campus.

"Four sections are using the old school at Clermont Harbor about four or five miles away," Randolph said.

"They have to go from that building to Gulfview to have lunch every day."

At Hancock North Central several minimum standards classrooms as well as 12 trailers are being used for classrooms, he said.

At Monday night's board meeting, discussions focused on tentative needs for four classrooms and one set of restrooms at Charles B. Murphy Elementary School, 14 classrooms and one set of restrooms at Gulfview Elementary School, six classrooms and one set of restrooms at Hancock North Central Elementary School and 12-14 classrooms at Hancock North Central High School with restrooms outside for the cafeteria.

Randolph said Wednesday he is hopeful that a bill introduced in the State Legislature to raise money through a statewide mill levy will help support construction and renovation costs.

"With the advent of kindergarten," he said, "many districts do not have space and need to begin a building program right away."

He also said possible future school consolidation would not unduly affect facility needs for the county schools.

"Even if they took 300 students from Hancock North Central to send to Bay St. Louis," he said, "we still need the space."

In other business the trustees: —Approved the continuance of emergency boiler repair at Hancock North Central and Charles B. Murphy Elementary School.

—Approved payment of $3,200 to Robert Drake of Hattiesburg for legal services in connection with a pending civil action filed by State of Mississippi against the school board. The lawsuit, resulting from repairs to Gulfview Elementary School following a tornado in May 1980, is scheduled for hearing next month in Hancock County Chancery Court.

—Accepted the resignation of Marie Wallace as custodian at Hancock North Central and approved the employment of Billie Jean Ladner as temporary janitor.

—Took under advisement bids for air-conditioners at Charles B. Murphy Elementary School.

Agreed to audit activity funds in all schools.

More arrests expected

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT

Michael Lanaux, 29, of 106 Lakeview Apts. in Pass Christian, was released from Hancock County jail Friday under $10,000 bond after being charged with embezzlement Thursday.

Lanaux, who worked at Lewis' Supermarket in Bay St. Louis until last month, allegedly stole $8,600 worth of money orders from the store, in December, according to Bay St. Louis Investigator Joseph Pica.

Also Friday, three men were charged as accessories to forgery after allegedly cashing some of the money orders.

Arrested were Bay St. Louis residents Michael Anthony Barabino, 35, of 344 St. George St., Otis Lee Davis, 35, of 205 Union St. and Randy Lyons, who refused to give his age or address, Pica said.

Barabino is being held in Hancock County Jail under $2,000 bond pending a preliminary hearing. Davis is being held under $1,000 bond.

Lyons, how is on probation on a former conviction, is being held without bond, Pica said.

Pica said an investigation is still continuing and he expects more arrests to be made.

A tasty and easily made dessert is the famed Key Lime Pie, brought to popularity by the keepers of the kitchens on the keys, the tropical islands along the southern tip of Florida.

It is said that the lime pies originated after the war between the states, the Civil War, when sweetened condensed milk found its way into the sparse cupboards of the defeated Southerners. Seeking ways to temper the sweetness of the condensed milk, the cooks reached for limes from the trees growing abundantly around their homes. . . and, as is so often the case in culinary history, a new taste was born.

Since I don't have a lime tree of my own, I have to settle for limes from the market, or in a pinch, bottled lime juice (though the fresh, of course, is tangier, and the rind sharpens the taste).

There are many variations of the Key Lime Pie, but the one I like best is made with a crumb crust and a topping of whipped cream. Here's

KEY LIME PIE

Crust:
1 1/4 cups graham cracker

crumbs
1/3 cup melted butter or margarine
Generous Tbsp sugar

Filling:
3 egg yolks
1 can sweetened condensed milk
3/4 cup lime juice
1/4 tsp. grated lime rind, optional
1 cup heavy cream, whipped (or whipped topping)

Mix together the crumbs, butter and sugar to make the crust, and press into a nine-inch pie tin. Chill until ready to use.

Whip three egg yolks with the can of condensed milk, and gradually stir in the lime juice and rind. Pour into the chilled crumb crust; chill for several hours. Whip the cream and spread over the pie, or use the whipped topping, and chill awhile longer.

This pie is also delicious made in a pastry shell, and topped with meringue . . . that also uses up the egg whites! You may substitute lemons, and make a lemon pie, but do try the Key Lime Pie, too. (Copyright, 1984, Katherine D.M. Caire)

Keesler mishap-free in 1983

There were no mishaps involving aircraft flying into or out of Keesler during 1983, contributing to what Air Force safety officials describe as the Air Force's safest flying in history.

Keesler's good showing in 1983 was the result of hard work by base maintenance, operations and flight crews, said Col. Milton Moake, Keesler's deputy commander for maintenance.

"It was a team effort," Moake said. "Everyone connected with the Keesler flying program lent a hand to make sure our C-130s and other transient aircraft took off, flew and completed their missions safely."

"Everyone in the maintenance and operations business made sure that aircraft technical data was followed precisely," Moake added. "We made sure we didn't cut any corners where aircraft and aircrew safety were concerned."

More than 5,000 takeoffs and landings of Keesler-based aircraft assigned to active duty units were recorded during 1983, with another 3,000 landings made by transient aircraft, according to Master Sgt. David Thomas, noncommissioned officer in charge of data management in the Keesler maintenance complex.

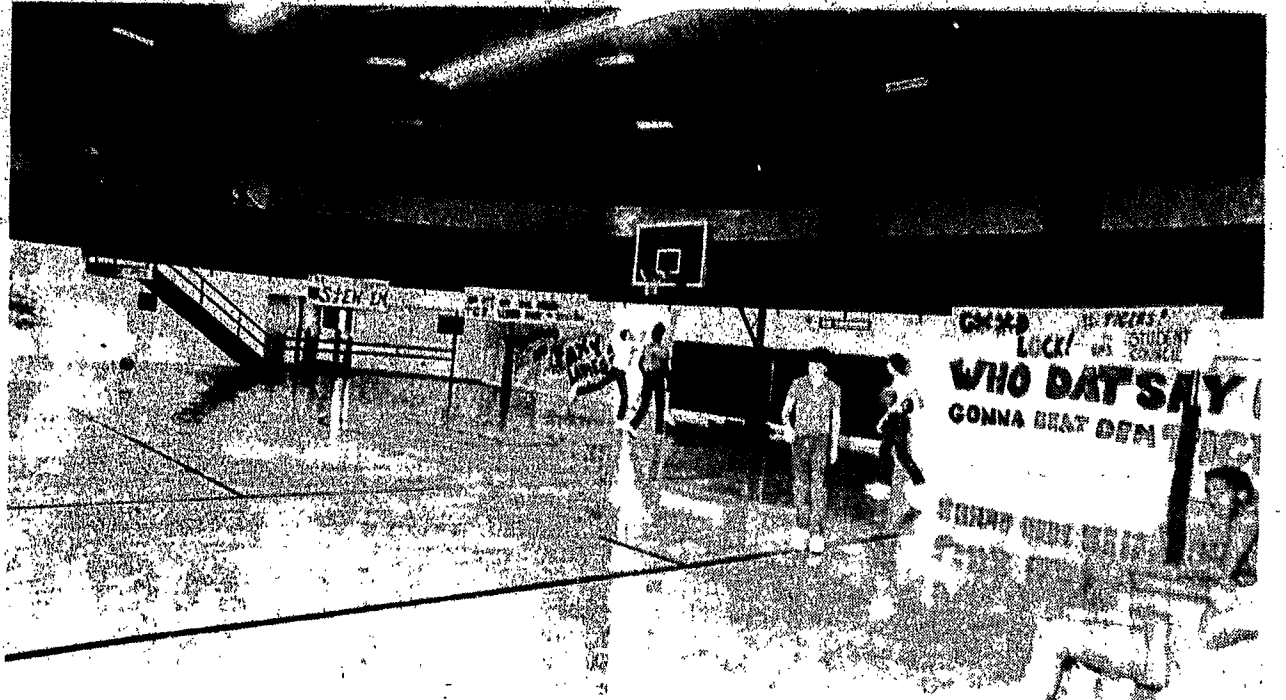

The 615th Weather Reconnaissance Squadron, a unit of the 403rd Rescue and Weather Reconnaissance Wing, recorded 1,500 takeoffs and landings during 1983 with 20 deployments.

Keesler active duty flying units were involved in 59 deployments to U.S. and overseas bases last year, according to Master Sgt. Collins.

Krewe of Nereids presents "It's A Small World"

With the idea that a warm smile has no language barrier and that love truly makes the world go round, the Krewe of Nereids presented 'It's A Small World' as their theme for the 18th annual Ball Masque last Saturday night at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum.

No matter what differences in customs, language and culture exist, the peoples of the world all share a desire for peace, understanding and love.

As the tableaux began, the Royal Court of 1983 entered as the orchestra played their tribute to George M. Cohen's 'Yankee Doodle Dandy'.

After the spotting of the Nereids Crest the 'Tourist' group arrived looking for a good time and boarded a tram for the trip to 'Fantasyland'.

The officers extended an official welcome to 'Our World' and heralded the appearance of the captain, costumed in a silver sequined gown with a collar of snow-white feathers.

The audience was then entertained by the 'Dancing

Fantasy' of 'Dolls from Nations Around the World'. There were bouncy, bubbly 'Brazilian Bombshells,' syn-copating 'Scottish Lads and Lassies,' led by authentic bag pipes; Oriental 'Japanese Fan Dancers'; 'Prancing polka 'Austrian Dolls'; alluring 'Harem Girls' from Persia; and hoe-down country 'Dancers' from U.S.A.

The Royal Maids were presented as 'Dolls From Far-Away Lands': The maid from Japan, the Land of the Rising Sun, was attired in a gold velvet kimono-type gown featuring designs of butterflies. She was escorted by her duke, Mr. Carl Guy.

The maid representing Russia, the empire of the Ancient Czars, was in light-blue velvet with designs of silver sequins and was escorted by Duke Paul LaViolette.

The maid representing the colorful festive countries of South America was costumed in black with sequined designs of tropical fruit. She was escorted by Duke Herbert T.

Dubuisson. The maid representing France, the Nation of Kings and Queens, was in a regal gown of lavender and gold, featuring a hoop skirt. She was escorted by Mr. William P. Kimbrell.

The maid representing Arabia, the realm of the Magic Carpet, was costumed in emerald-green velvet, accented with gold in a harem girl design. She was escorted by her duke, Mr. Alvin S. Fletcher.

The maid representing the U.S.A., our own Indian Heritage, was in brilliant red, trimmed in white and featuring read and white feathers. She was escorted by Dr. Paul A. Pursley. All the dukes were attired in matching costumes and elaborate headpieces.

Queen Doris XVIII, personifying the 'Queen of Our Fantasy Land' realm, was exquisite in her gown of white embroidered English net, accented with designs of gold sequins and rhinestones. Her lace mantle was heavily encrusted with gold sequins and rhinestones. Her train was of gold lame', featuring a hot-air balloon design.

Trainbearers to Her Majesty were Master Brett Edward Heitzman, Master Brian Scott Neale, Master Robert Scott Smith and Miss Amy Elizabeth Tartavouille.

King Nereus XVIII, Mr. Gerald C. Gex, was attired in a regal white tunic featuring designs of gold sequins and rhinestones. His train of gold lame' also featured the design of a hot-air balloon. Mr. Gex is a Bay St. Louis attorney, associated with the firm of Gex, Gex and Phillips.

After their Grand March the Royal Court was entertained by a local group of Filipino-Americans performing a traditional Filipino dance and by the krewe members in their 'Small World' Finale.

Court costumes were designed and made by Carter Church. Choreographer was Ed Morvant and master of ceremonies was Norris Fitzmorris.

Bourg, Heier rule over Krewe of Diamondhead

The Krewe of Diamondhead held their annual Coronation Ball on Sunday, Feb. 12 at the Diamondhead Country Club. The festivities began with the promenade around the dance floor by the 1983 royalty, King Ali'i Honua VIII, Tommy Heier, and Queen Hilda Bourg.

The 1984 royal couple was announced and presented by Captain Benny Mistretta. King Ali'i Honua IX, Jerry Bourg, and Queen Lorraine Heier proceeded to the throne to be crowned, followed by a promenade around the floor.

The toast was given by King Ali'i Honua IX to his newly crowned queen and to the guests. He read his proclamation declaring the 1984 Mardi Gras festivities in Diamondhead had commenced and for fun and frolic to follow for the next three weeks.

The 1983 Queen of the Sea at Diamondhead, Bernice Johnston and the 1979 Queen of the Sea, Nell Koenen, were presented to the royal couple. They were escorted to the throne by Ball Lieutenant Stan Robert and Parade Lieutenant Chris Arnos.

The 1983 and the 1984 royal couples began the dancing. Music was provided by Jay Heitzmann.

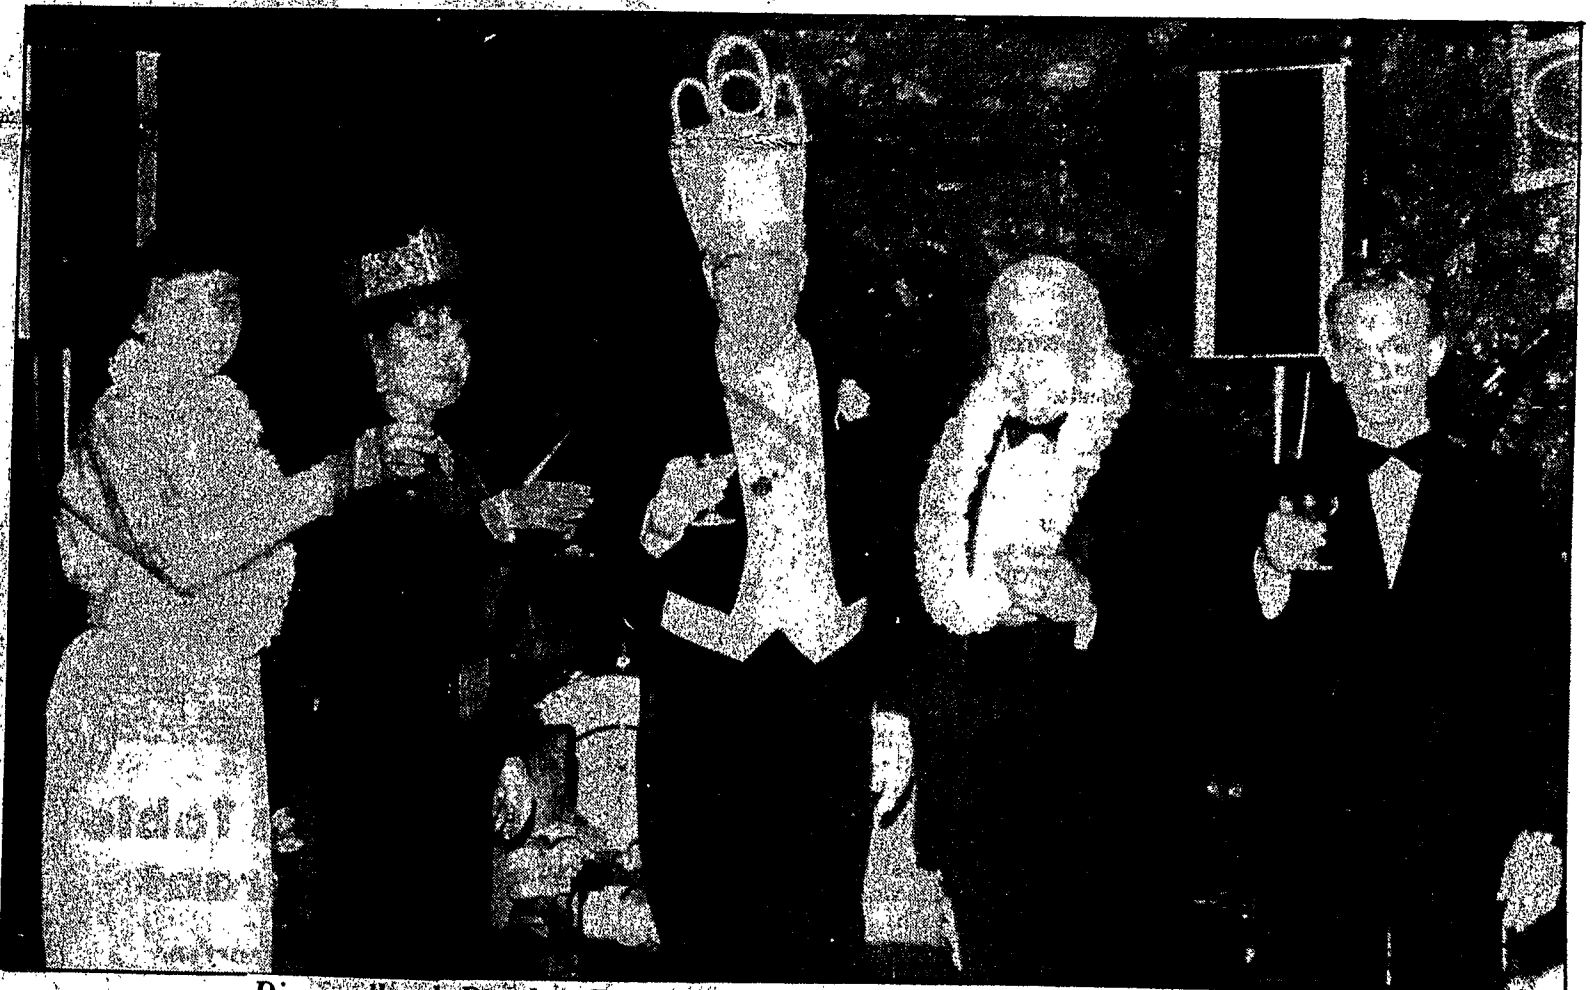

The Diamondhead Country Club decoration depicted 'Famous Movies,' the theme of the land parade to be held on Saturday, March 3 at noon. Each table had balloons in vases with the names of actors and actresses imprinted on them and the Mardi Gras tricolor ribbon was in the center with beads and doubloons placed upon it.

The ball decoration committees consisted of Mealy Swartzendruber, Ann Neff, Linda Eckert, Charlotte Renshaw, Dot Rickson, Betsy Nolan, Mary Michael and Eura Watson.

Sunday morning began with a parade of cars to the homes of the king and queen to present flags to be flown throughout Mardi Gras season denoting their royalty.

The flags were raised by Captain Benny Mistretta, assisted by Lieutenants Stan Robert and Chris Arnos. A 'champagne' breakfast followed at the home of King Ali'i Honua IX, Jerry Bourg.

At this time the king presented to Queen Lorraine Heier and to Pages Kevin Bourg and Schoen Heier silver engraved champagne goblets.

St. Ann-St. John to present 10th annual Bal Masque

Saturday evening, Feb. 25 at a glittering coronation ball in St. Ann Parish Hall, Clermont Harbor, the 1984 monarchs, a carefully guarded secret until the night of the ball, will be presented as rulers of a 'Never Ever Land' as bright and vivid and totally illusioned as the dreams of childhood.

The gala event in celebration of the 10th anniversary of St. Ann-St. John Carnival Association's Bal Masque is a colorful pageantry will begin promptly at 8 p.m.

Following presentation of their majesties 1984, the regal pair will invite their loyal subjects to join in general dancing and merriment until midnight.

Organized as a fund-raising project to help the parish financially and primarily to bring the parishioners together, the ball has become an annual affair sponsored by a group of people with a common interest.

A limited number of tickets are on sale and should be purchased in advance. Everyone is encouraged to come costumed and masked. Prizes will be awarded in various categories.

Donation, $5 per person. Tickets may be purchased from Ladner's Grocery, Clermont Harbor, or after the weekend masses at St. Ann and St. John Churches.

Nereids parade to roll February 26

The Krewe of Nereids, the only women's Mardi Gras Krewe on the Gulf Coast, will present its 18th annual carnival parade in Waveland at 2 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 26.

The theme, which was revealed at a beautiful ball in the Coliseum last weekend, is 'It's A Small World.'

Some 90 units are expected to roll with the parade. Among these will be some spectacular floats depicting not only the U.S.A., but such far-away places as Scotland, Japan, Arabia and Austria.

The krewe members are coordinated in color and theme to their particular float which helps make each float a 'fantasy-come-alive.'

As in the past, the krewe picks a celebrity to act as their grand marshal. This year the Krewe of Nereids will present John Hill, center, for the New Orleans Saints.

Hill, a native of East Orange, N.J., has been with the New Orleans Saints football team since 1975 and has missed only five games since that time. He started every game in 1982 and is a veteran of the offensive line that allowed no sacks in three games in 1982.

He led the line in 1979 that allowed only 17 sacks all season which was the second lowest in the NFL that year. Hill holds a degree in engineering from Lehigh College. He is married and has one child.

The parade will form at Choctaw Shopping Center (US Hwy. 90 at Hwy. 85) head east to Katie's Candy Shop.

turn and go back west to the Our Shopping Center (US-90 at Waveland Ave.).

Small children along the parade route will be given balloons, and krewe members will be throwing posters from the floats for the first time.

A truck parade which follows the Nereids Krewe is known as the Nereids Krewe of Hancock, and these units are sponsored by businesses, schools, family and neighborhood groups. It is all part of the Hancock community spirit.

Trophies are presented to the outstanding bands, marching units and float entries.

Further information on entering the Krewe of Hancock is available by calling Mrs. Dolores Richmond at 497-7833.

Arbor Day observed by Bay-Waveland Gardeners

Mrs. James A. Evans, president of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club, reported from the following chairman at the Club's February meeting: Mrs. George S. Band, Arbor Day Chairwoman. Arbor Day Ceremonies took place at the Bay St. Louis Junior High School on February 10. Representatives of the Hancock County Extension Service and members of the Junior High School Garden Club were present.

Mrs. Lelyn Nybo, Arbor Day chairman, said that new plantings were planned for the Bay St. Louis Library grounds. The club members that the library is the 'Garden of the Year' and special credits are planned.

Mrs. John Holmes, Energy Awareness/Wildflower/Intermediate Gardeners chairman, reported on the Energy Workshop given at the Garden Center in time for the fireplaces more efficient; she announced that a Wildflower Workshop would be held at Tigonningo State Park on March 4. The club interested in attending should send $12.00 to the State Wildlife Service, P.O. Box 100, Hattiesburg, Miss. 39401.

The Horticulture tip for the month was given by Mrs. David S. Holmes, who announced the places in Hancock County where free trees will be distributed.

Mrs. S.C. Crosby, Pilgrimage chairman, reported everything in order for the event.

Mrs. Edwin Larroux provided the floral arrangement for the Bay St. Louis Library and Mrs. Ned Jeffrey provided one for the Waveland Library for the month of February.

The Registrar, Mrs. S.L. Ridge, reported that there were 56 members and 11 guests present.

The following members of the Club were elected officers in the Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs: Mrs. Clarence A. Evans will serve a two-year term as second vice-president, and Mrs. O. Duke will serve another year as Treasurer.

The program was given by Mrs. Judith Tours, noted ornithologist with the Mississippi Museum of Natural Science and Birding, who gave a very interesting slide presentation. It was presented by Mrs. Clarence A. Evans, Publicity chairman.

George, Asher exchange vows

Lisa Ann Asher became the bride of Charles Adam George in a 2 p.m. ceremony February 4 at the Old Spanish Trail Baptist Church with Rev. Charles Alexander officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Asher of Bay St. Louis. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas George of Hopedale, Mass.

The church was decorated with baskets of white gladioli, carnations and white and pink dogwood. A bridal arch decorated with white phlox, pink carnations and ivy formed a background for the exchange of vows.

Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. John McKenna.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of chantilly lace over bridal taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a jeweled Queen Anne neckline and long fitted sleeves. The full flowing skirt was fashioned with tiers of lace which swept to a chapel length train. Her derby hat was accented with silk roses and imported silk illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white silk roses, stephanotis, baby's breath and ivy interspersed with pink sweetheart roses.

Elizabeth Garcia of Waveland attended the bride as maid of honor. Julie Jacob of Piquette was bridesmaid. The attendants were identically attired in long flowing gowns of maroon tulle.

They wore headpieces of forget-me-nots and baby's breath and carried long stemmed pale pink roses with baby's breath and ribbon streamers.

Dan Louring of Gulfport was best man. Kevin Baker of Gulfport was groomsmen and Joe Gore of Waveland was usher.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Exmouth Lodge in Waveland.

On return from a wedding trip to Mount Peceno Resort in Pennsylvania, the couple will reside in Bay St. Louis.

BIRTHDAYS CELEBRATED—Timothy James and Shelby Danielle Kennedy celebrated their fourth and second birthdays, respectively, at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby W. Kennedy of Bay St. Louis. Grandparents of the children are Foster and Mrs. Bobby D. Kennedy and Mrs. Theresa Harmon of Kila and the late Peter Garcia.

FIRST BIRTHDAY—Jacob Seth Davis, son of Freddie and Nancy Davis of Pass Christian, celebrated his first birthday on February 7 with an evening party in his home. Maternal grandparents are Mrs. Vivian Shaw of Perkinston and the late Leroy Shaw. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Davis of Pass Christian.

Golmon, Chapman to wed March 17

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Scruggs Golmon of Bay St. Louis announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Ann Golmon, to Samuel Gregory Chapman of San Antonio, Tex., son of Dr. and Mrs. Calvin Chandler Chapman III.

Vows will be exchanged March 17 at 2 p.m. at Christ Episcopal Church in Bay St. Louis. The Reverend Charles Johnson will officiate at the ceremony. The bride's parents will host a reception at their home immediately following the ceremony.

Miss Golmon is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Felix Heidelberg Jr. of Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Golmon of Gulfport.

She was graduated from Coast Episcopal High School where she was a member of the National Honor Society and Mu Alpha Theta. She also received the Outstanding Student Award and the Latin Award. She attended Trinity University in San Antonio, Tex. where she was a member of the American Marketing Association and Sigma Iota Epsilon.

She was vice-president of the American Marketing Association and received Trinity's Outstanding Marketing Student Award her senior year. She was a cum laude graduate.

Grandparents of the future bridegroom are the late Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wilhite of Denver, Colo., and Mrs. Bue Hentze of Woodburn, Ore., and the late Calvin C. Chapman of Oakland, Calif.

He was graduated from Portsmouth High School, Portsmouth, N. H., and from Trinity University with a degree in business administration. He is now affiliated with Kinkos Graphics, Incorporated in San Antonio.

MARY ANN GOLMON

FIRST BIRTHDAY—Kendall Ladner Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Ray Ladner of Pass Christian, celebrated his first birthday January 25 with a Smurf theme party. He is the grandson of Mrs. Gracie Ladner of Pass Christian and Mr. and Mrs. John Lumpkin of Petal, Miss.

THE DUKE—"Great Performances" presents an encore of "Ellington: The Music Lives on" at 9 p.m., Monday, Feb. 27, on Mississippi Educational Television.

The program, hosted by Cicely Tyson, celebrates Duke Ellington and his music and includes new interpretations of legendary Ellington tunes by Sister Sledge, Carly Simon, Ken Page, Patti LaBelle and other performers.

ETV Brief

FOUR HERMITS—"American Playhouse" presents a new 30-minute drama about four people and their private agonies at 9 p.m., Tuesday, Feb. 28, on Mississippi Educational Television.

"Refuge" by Brock Patterson and Luther Spierberg tells a story of four people thrown together on a remote island off the coast of Maine.

Each of the four persons has come to the island with different reasons for wanting to be alone. Their unexpected and unwanted proximity on the small island, however, creates a situation of confrontation, betrayal and revenge, affecting all of their lives.

The production stars Anne Twomey, James Congdon, Alexandra O'Karma and Will Jeffries.

Story Hour titles listed

Every Thursday at 10:30 a.m. Story Hour is conducted at City-County Library in Bay St. Louis.
Pre-school children three to six are invited to attend.
Story Hour this week begins with 'The Owl And The Woodpecker' by Brian Wildsmith.
'Two Little Houses,' a finger play, will be performed next.
The second book to be read is 'I Play In My Room' by Anne Rockwell.
'This House,' a finger play, will be performed afterwards.
The program will conclude with the planned board story, 'The House That Jack Built,' according to Becky Mitchum Keefer, children's librarian.

UM to offer two-day seminar for health care professionals

Managing patients and stress effectively is the subject of a seminar for health professionals sponsored by the University of Mississippi Medical Center March 5-6 at the Royal d'Iberville Hotel in Biloxi.

The first day of program will focus on patient non-compliance and dissatisfaction with health care.

Stress management skills to improve professional and personal effectiveness in handling conflicts at work will be discussed the second day.

Guest speaker is Dr. John D. Blakeman, chairman of the Department of Counseling and Psychological Services at Georgia State University in Atlanta.

Dr. James C. Brown, course coordinator and also a program speaker, is director of education programs and associate professor of community and oral health in the School of Dentistry at UMC. Program sponsors include the University of Mississippi School of Dentistry Department of Community and Oral Health, the School of Medicine, the School of Family Medicine, the School of Nursing and the UMC Division of Continuing Health Professional Education.

The program also meets the criteria for 11.25 contact hours of dental continuing education credit.

This seminar has been submitted to the Mississippi Nurses' Association CERP Committee for approval of 13.5 contact hours.

Appropriate continuing education units will also be awarded.

For registration information, contact the UMC Division of Continuing Education at 2500 North State Street, Jackson 39216, or call 987-4914.

Early American Methodist growing pains included schisms, mergers

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the second in a series of articles by Katrina (Mrs. C.C. Sr.) McDonald of Bay St. Louis, member of the Main Street United Methodist Church here, on the founding and development of Methodism in America in conjunction with the national celebration of the Bicentennial of Methodism in America.

By MRS. KATRINA McDONALD

In the first article of this series, the beginnings of American Methodism were traced from a trip by its founder John Wesley and his brother Charles who made a trip as Church of England missionaries to the American Georgia colony in 1736 to the actual organization in 1784.

This historic Conference on Christmas Eve of 1784 at Lovey Lane Chapel in Baltimore was the culmination of almost 50 years of hard labor and devoted service from many noteworthy pioneer leaders, including Francis Asbury, Robert Strawbridge, Philip Embury, Barbara Heck, Richard Boardman, Thomas Coke, Thomas Vasey, Richard Whatcoat and others.

In the years following the Christmas Conference, the Methodist Episcopal Church adopted a quadrennial General Conference, the first of which was held in 1792.

Some 16 years later in 1808 a Constitution was drafted and refined. The founders established a publishing house and became ardent supporters of revivalism and the camp meeting.

The church suffered two schisms, one led by William Hammett in 1791, and the other by Joseph O'Kelly in 1792.

As the Methodist movement was in its infancy in America, two other churches were being formed. The first of them was the Church of the United Brethren in Christ, founded by Philip William Otterbein (1726-1813) and Martin Boehm (1725-1812).

Otterbein, a German Reformed pastor, and Boehm, a Mennonite, preached an evangelical message and experience very similar to the Methodists.

In 1800 the Church of the United Brethren in Christ was formally organized. A second church, the Evangelical Association, was begun by Jacob Albright (1759-1808), a farmer and tilemaker in eastern Pennsylvania who had been converted and nurtured under Methodist teaching.

The Evangelical Association was officially organized in 1803. These two churches were to unite with each other in 1946 and with the Methodist Church in 1968 to form the United Methodist Church.

By the time of Francis Asbury's death, March 31,

1816, Otterbein, Boehm and Albright had also died. The churches with which they had been associated had survived the difficulties of early life and were beginning to expand numerically and geographically.

The early nineteenth century was a very important period in American life. Victory in the War of 1812 solidified the nation's independence and planted a vigorous optimism about its future in the minds of the people.

Immigration increased significantly. New inventions and technology promised a more productive and prosperous life for a larger number of people.

There was a frontier to explore and settle. The Second Great Awakening was the most dominant religious development in the first half of the nineteenth century.

Through revivals and camp meetings, its aim was to bring sinners to an experience of conversion.

This style of Christianity was very agreeable to Methodists, United Brethren and Evangelicals.

They supported the objectives of the Awakening and drew strength from it. Their memberships rose dramatically during the years 1817 through 1843. The number of preachers serving them multiplied as well.

It was expected that both members and preachers would be seriously committed to the faith. Preachers were not only to possess a sound conversion and divine calling but they were also to demonstrate the fights and skills requisite to an effective ministry.

Their work was urgent and demanding. The financial benefits were meager. But, as they often reminded each other, there was no more important work than theirs.

The deep commitment of the general membership was exhibited in their willingness to adhere to the strict spiritual disciplines and standards of conduct outlined by their churches.

Methodists, for example, were to be strictly guided by a set of General Rules adopted at the General Conference of 1784.

These are still printed in the United Methodist's Book of Discipline and include a series of prohibitions from doing evil as well as exhortations to do good.

Membership in the church was serious business. There was no place for the "almost Christian."

The structure of the Methodist, United Brethren and Evangelical Association churches allowed them to function in ways to support, consolidate and expand their ministries.

General Conference meetings every four years, proved sufficient to set the main course for the church.

Annual conferences under Episcopal leadership, provided the mechanism for admitting and ordaining clergy, making appointments and supplying preachers with mutual support.

Local churches and classes could spring up wherever two or three were gathered under the direction of a class leader, and were visited as regularly as schedule would permit by the circuit preacher.

The system could effectively serve the needs of city, town, village or frontier outpost.

The churches could go to the people without much difficulty no matter where they were settled.

(AUTHOR'S NOTE: Much of the material in the above article and succeeding ones is found in a recently published "Brief History of the United Methodist Church" by Dr. Chas. Yrigoyen, general secretary of the General Commission on Archives and History, United Methodist Church.

Parish News

By Rev. B.C. Keller, SVD
Jesus gives us an astounding recipe for becoming God like: do not resist the evil doer! He preached that message and lived it. What is our reaction to it?

We are grateful for the various contributions the Altar Society made in 1983 for the needs of the sanctuary, namely, candles and wine for the altar and flowers for Christmas, Easter and Jubilee Celebration.

They also provided for the shampooing of the sanctuary carpet and painting of baseboards and doors in sanctuary. Thanks again!

The members of the Altar Society will be receiving a list for the give-away of a beautiful crocheted luncheon set made and donated by Miss Dolores Curry.

Religious instructions are after 9 a.m. Mass today for the 6, 7 and 8 grades. Weekday classes are on: Monday for grades 1 and 2; Tuesday for grades 3 and 4; and Wednesday for grade 5. Starting time is 3 p.m. Confirmation class is on Wednesday at 6:30 p.m.

Gospel Choir will practice on Tuesday at 6:30 p.m.

The Hancock County Branch NAACP will meet tomorrow at 7 p.m. in Valena C. Jones United Methodist Church.

St. Rose Alumni Association will meet on Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. in the rectory.

The parish's 20th Annual Semi Pro Basketball Tournament will begin at the Seminary Gym on Saturday, March 10 and continue on Saturdays and Sundays until April 1.

Our parish council Zone Representatives will be contacting you for contributions of food or cash to help keep down the overhead expenses.

The Abundant Life

By Shawn Murphy
Bay St. Louis Church of Christ

"A gentle answer turns away wrath, But a harsh word stirs up anger."

(Proverb 15:1)

If the truth were known, most of us have the most trouble controlling our tongues. Someone once said very wisely, that "the good Lord gave us two ears and one mouth because He wanted us to do twice as much listening as talking."

How many times have you wished that you could go back in time like a tape recorder and erase entire conversations that you've had? I do almost daily.

Usually its because I violate this, very verse. I'll say a "harsh word" and stir up anger. You would think that I would have learned by now.

Perhaps the old adage of counting to ten when angry before speaking has merit.

James asks "Who among you is wise and understanding? Let him show by his good behavior his deeds in the gentleness of wisdom." (James 3:17,18)

James also writes, "If anyone thinks himself to be religious, and yet does not bridle his tongue but deceives his own heart, this man's religion is worthless." (James 1:26)

May God help us all to be gentle in our speech!

PUBLIC NOTICES

NOTICE
Notice is hereby given of a public hearing to be held by the Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District. The public hearing will be held on Tuesday, March 27, 1984 at 7:00 P.M. in the American Legion Hall, 208A Coleman Avenue, Waveland, Mississippi.

The public hearing will be held for the purpose of formally receiving public comments on the 1979 Update of the 201 Facilities Plan (201) for Hancock County and the Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District's Responsive Summary Document.

The plan considers, among other things, six alternatives for disposal of effluent: 1. moving the current discharge sites from Watts Bayou and Edwards Bayou to Jordan River; 2. moving the discharge point from the Bay St. Louis sewer lagoon to Jordan River and upgrading the discharge from the Waveland treatment plant and retain the discharge in Edwards Bayou; 3. a regional treatment plant with the Bay St. Louis sewer lagoon continuing primary treatment with the effluent pumped to Waveland treatment plant for final treatment and discharge into Edwards Bayou; 4. deep well injection of effluent; 5. discharge from the Waveland and Bay St. Louis facilities to the Mississippi Sound; 6. spray irrigation.

Documentation in the form of: (1) The 1983 update to the 201 Facilities Plan, for Hancock County, Mississippi is currently on file at the City County Library, Highway 90, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi; Waveland Library, Coleman Avenue, Waveland, Mississippi; the Hancock County Courthouse, Main Street, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi. (2) The Responsive Summary Document developed pursuant to the 201 Facility Planning requirements will be on display for at least 30 days at the three locations set out in (1) above and; The Bay St. Louis City Hall, Second Street, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi; the Waveland City Hall, Coleman Avenue, Waveland, Mississippi.

The public is urged to review the documentation and to provide comments so that its views can be considered in the adoption of the 1983 Update to the 201 Facilities Plan, for Hancock County, Mississippi. The Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District will make a presentation beginning at 7:00 P.M. followed by a question and answer period. Formal statements from the public are encouraged.
